School Musical Festival Is The Day of Days

2ND ANNUAL PROVES GREAT ATTRACTION TO LARGE ENTRY LIST

OFFERINGS ARE OF HIGH STANDARD

TOWN FILLED WITH VISITORS FROM WHOLE SCHOOL INSPECTORATE

To say that the second annual school musical festival was a success is to utter a platitude, yet nothing less can be said for the manner in which the affair of Friday last was put over by those responsible for this splendid feature of the Wainwright school inspectorate.

With Principal D. Kyle, of Wainwright, as president of the festival committee, and his many willing helpers going to and fro, the stage indeed a full one, and funds was not written to the day's proceedings until nearly midnight after carrying out arrangements which commenced almost with the dawn.

At an early hour very many of the outside school competitors began to arrive in town, and by the opening hour, the three large gathering places—The Elks theatre, the United church and the Masonic hall, were all well filled with a large number of parents and friends in addition to the numerous entrants in the various events.

The number of entries for the festival year were about on a par with those of 1929, with possibly larger numbers of kiddies in the group offerings, and every one of these acquitted themselves as to the musical going to and fro, the stage-fright attitude of the youngsters being conspicuously absent.

The classes were so full in some instances, and the offerings of the public so near a parity (especially in the vocal solo numbers) that the adjudicator, Mr. W. H. Edwards, of Calgary, who acted as his clerk, Miss Beatrice Welch, was enforced to have several of the offerings repeated before final judgment could be rendered and the places awarded.

Mr. I. V. Hall, of Edmonton, who with Miss Seese as clerk, sat at the Masonic hall to judge the elocution offerings, also had a hard task to eliminate the silver medalist in some of the grades, and here again the entries list was a very long one.

The dramatization efforts of the youngsters from both town and country schools far exceeded anything put on in this line previously, and elicited a crowded audience at the theatre to "stay put" for practically the whole day through, and the judgments of the adjudicator Mr. Haverstock of Camrose whose clerk was Mrs. E. Frickleton, were received with acclamation when announced.

It would be futile to make even an attempt at close description of the wonderful effects produced by the children of the different schools in either their dramatization or elocution offerings, suffice it to say that to the layman's eye the presentations were as near perfection as seemed possible.

Subject matter chosen for their offerings seemed mostly well adapted for the affair, and the teachers and others responsible must have worked hard and main to raise the standard to such a state of perfection as was manifested.

For the grand concert in the theatre in the evening, at which all the prize-winning numbers were run off under the chairmanship of Mr. Edwards, the auditorium was literally packed to the doors for standing room was at a premium long before the time set for the start of the programme.

The awards for the solo numbers were silver and bronze medals to the first and second respectively while the group or grade presentations coming first in adjudication were awarded the several trophies which the festival committee had donated at the commencement of this feature last year. These splendid tributes of their success were in each case awarded to the teacher responsible for the school or grade.

Altogether the festival was a decided success from every angle, and the last talent which such a presentation brings forth, proves that the efforts of those responsible for it have indeed done much to raise the educational status of the whole in the town, and that the festival committee along the lines of this class of art.

The following is a complete list of the prize winners, the medalists retaining their awards as their own personal property, and the trophies being held by the schools named for the period of one year, at which time

MONTREAL—Since the installation of telephone service on the Canadian National trains, there has been an average of six calls a trip between Montreal and Toronto and in the other direction according to W. D. Robb Vice President, in whose department the service comes. Most of them have been from the train to Montreal, Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, Hamilton, London, and other points, one being made to Asheville, New York. Several have been made to the moving train from outside points.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Wiley were in the city over the week end.

TO PRESERVE NATURAL BEAUTY OF NATIONAL PARKS OF DOMINION

OTTAWA—Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior will shortly bring before Parliament a bill the main purpose of which is to prevent the exploitation by private interests of the power timber and mineral riches of our great national parks.

According to existing laws the land of the Government in power have the right to dispose by order-in-council of any or all water power, timber or mineral resources within the boundaries of our national parks. Under Mr. Stewart's bill it will be necessary for a private bill to pass the House before any lease or other rights for commercial development can be granted.

This bill will receive the support of the House irrespective of party affiliations it will be supported because its purpose is to protect the interests of the whole population of the country and to have any claim for expropriation thoroughly aired by debate in Parliament before it is granted.

Agriculture Needs An Inventor

There is a real opportunity awaiting some enterprising genius who will evolve a machine which will effectively and economically deal with wheat plants to prevent stem rust. The experts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture find that the only effective method of controlling this parasitic organism, which spreads with amazing rapidity, is to apply finely powdered sulphur to the stem of the growing plant as a toxic agent. A considerable fortune awaits some lucky person who has "dust on the brain" well enough to design a new form of machine for this purpose.

BOWERMAN NOW LIBERAL CHOICE

MR. S. R. BOWERMAN ONLY NAME PLACED BEFORE CONVENTION OF LIBERALS

On Monday last, at the I.O.O.F. hall, Wainwright, a large gathering of followers of the Liberal party met in convention for the purpose of nominating a standard bearer to contest the forthcoming election to the provincial house in the interest of that party.

The president, Mr. M. L. Forster, occupied the chair, and Secretary Daugherty read the notice calling the meeting.

At the outset, the chairman appointed the resolutions committee and a credentials committee, but after consideration it was decided that all present should feel free to take part in the discussions and business of the meeting.

Upon the call for nominees, Mr. Jas. Robinson, placed the name of Mr. Stephen Hoyas Bowerman before the meeting, and a motion to declare nominations closed was carried on a standing vote.

Mr. Bowerman, who was then called to the platform amid applause spoke at some length and to the desire that he be elected to the Liberal party as a whole in this constituency, getting behind him in every possible way to the end that the riding might be won for a Liberal standard bearer. He went at some length into the record of the past sitting member particularly with regard to the manner in which Wainwright has been disregarded in its just claims to more consideration for public works, roads, etc., and promised to do all in his power if elected to parliament to see that the interest of the whole riding were over his first business as their representative.

He said he felt that during his over twenty years of residence in the riding he had merited the confidence of the electorate, and that the voters owed it to themselves to see that such a man sent to Edmonton as would be at all times available to assist in public problems; and promised to work night and main to the end that Wainwright constituency should know that they had a man who would give his whole heart to their interests to the end that whatever taxation had to be borne at least a fair proportion of their payments would be available for necessary improvements in the riding.

At the conclusion of the nominee's remarks, the executive of the Liberal association went into session to deal with routine matters connected with the campaign.

Made of light metal and weighing only a few pounds a small collapsible runway hoist to be used in place of a jack for raising the automobile to change a tire now is on the market.

NEW TOWN BYLAWS REMAIN IN ABEYANCE

PUBLIC UTILITY BOARD WILL BE INTERVIEWED REGARDING THESE

The Mayor stated it was impossible to comply with their request as the necessary authority had not yet been received, whereby the money is available in order to proceed with the work at once.

The Chairman of the respective Committees reported verbally as to the work being carried on in their several departments, after which the meeting adjourned.

WEDDING BELLS

On Saturday last, at St. Andrew's (Pres.) church, the pastor, Rev. W. S. Brooker, united in the bonds of holy matrimony, Miss Mable Bertha Bowers, and Thomas Byron Alexander West, both of Provost. The happy couple will take up residence at Provost after a short honeymoon.

MINISTER TO U. S. WILL NOT BE NAMED UNTIL AFTER GENERAL VOTE

OTTAWA, May 17.—(C.P.)—The Canadian minister to Washington will not be appointed until after the general election. This was stated by the prime minister when asked concerning reports that a successor to the Hon. Vincent Massey had been decided upon.

"I think I intimated some time ago that we would not appoint a minister immediately," said Mr. MacKenzie King. "Mr. Massey will remain in Washington until July, and after that will take up his duties in London as high commissioner. As a matter of fact we have not thought of his successor yet, and in any case he will be appointed to the Washington legation until after the general election."

The prime minister declared that the announcement of a United States minister to Ottawa, in succession to the Hon. William Phillips, would be made by the United States government.

New System of Reporting

A new system of reporting live stock sales and prices has been put into effect in the Stockyard and Market Reporting Service of the Dominion Live Stock Branch. The purpose of the new system is to afford a more adequate indication of sales and prices in relation to local cattle coming on the market. The principal change brings to the top of the list, the section of beef cattle indication of the volume and price range of the popular light cattle, and providing the producer with a more adequate indication of grade and price than was possible under the old system.

C.N.R. TO BROADCAST ARRIVAL OF THE R-100

DIRIGIBLE EXPECTED TO LEAVE ENGLAND AT END OF THIS WEEK

WINNIPEG—People in the Prairie Provinces, through the Canadian National and associated stations, will have an opportunity to listen-in to the broadcast of the arrival of the R-100 giant British dirigible, at St. Hubert airport, near Montreal, which is expected to take place later in the latter part of this month, according to the announcement made by A. E. Weir, Director of Radio for the Canadian National System, who has charge of the arrangements in hand at the request of the British Air Ministry.

With the R-100 crosses the Atlantic Ocean, and comes within reach of Canadian broadcasting stations, her story will begin. As she approaches St. Hubert airport, near Montreal where a huge mooring mast has been erected for her reception the tale of her progress will be told by two Canadian announcers stationed in the top chamber of the mooring mast. Their voices will be carried over to Montreal where from a special switch board of the Bell Telephone Company they will be relayed to the radio broadcasting stations throughout Canada.

The plan is to have the Canadian National Telegraphs will carry the graphic story into twenty cities, stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, where Canadian National and associated radio stations will spread the message to the millions of listeners who are waiting in the success of the trip but unable to join the many thousands who will be at St. Hubert airport to greet the monster dirigible.

When plans for the visit of the R-100 were made, the British Air Ministry asked A. E. Weir, Director of Canadian National Railways radio to arrange for a nation-wide broadcast, as it was considered that the Canadian National radio organization was the only one in the Dominion, with its chain of owned and associated stations, capable of arranging such a project. The plan was, therefore, started to tie-in the different stations on the Canadian National chain and these stations will receive the story direct from the airport through the medium of the Bell Telephone and Canadian National carrier current wire systems. During the broadcast, French-speaking listeners will not be overlooked, plans having been made for a description of the arrival to be broadcast in the French language.

The complete list of places from which Canadian National associated stations will broadcast the story of the R-100 is as follows: Halifax, St. John, Fredericton, Moncton, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Chatham, London, Winnipeg, Regina, Yorkton, Saskatoon, Calgary, Red Deer, Edmonton and Vancouver B. C.

Love Gives Report U.F.A. Convention

SITTING MEMBER IS AGAIN NOMINATED TO RUN NEXT ELECTION

The following article which has been contributed to our columns, was received too late for last week's issue. The Wainwright U.F.A. and U.P.W.A. constituency association, held its annual meeting in the Masonic hall, Wainwright, on Saturday May 17th.

Some two hundred delegates and visitors attended the meeting which was quite the equal of any previous convention in interest and spirit.

Mr. C. T. Hill, president of the association was elected chairman of the convention and Mr. Grover Laseh, was appointed convention secretary.

After the usual convention committee had been selected the chairman called on Mrs. Postans, the association's secretary to read the minutes of the last annual meeting. After the minutes were adopted Mrs. Postans presented the secretary's report and the financial statement. It was rejected that the association was in a better financial position than it had been at the last session.

President Hill in his annual report reviewed some of the outstanding achievements of the present U.F.A. government and stated that public opinion indicated that the record of the government was something the people of the province could well be proud of.

The president's address was followed by two splendid vocal numbers rendered by Mr. Wm. Hays with Mrs. Lally at the piano. The chairman next called on Mr. J. R. Love the sitting member to give the first part of his annual report.

Mr. Love reviewed the various stages in the transactions leading up to the final by refusing to accept the advice of opposition groups in the legislature the government finally secured six million dollars more for the railways than other political parties had expected it would be possible to secure.

The member then reviewed the various steps in the negotiations that finally consummated in the transfer of the natural resources to the province.

The provincial telephone system.

WELLS PREPARE FOR PRODUCTION TEST

BOTH ONALTO AND BETHWAIN WILL SHORTLY KNOW VALUE OF HOLE

(By W. A. Knowles)

Bethwain No. 2 well is now coring at 2244 feet and will, in all probability core into the expected oil sand to day or tomorrow. Indications in recent cores have shown considerable oil saturation and formation conducive to the carrying of a commercial oil production. When the final core is taken and the hole run out to full size, casing will be run and cemented, after which it will be allowed to set for at least ten days before a production test is made.

Onalton, now cemented on a well saturated, oil-laden sand will test for production capacity within the next week. The prospects look very good, with a very definite program of development being formed to take place based on the showing made by their No. 1 site when tested.

Fahyan Petroleum which has been bailing from several feet of open hole cored to a depth of 2008 feet has been showing good oil indications with considerable gas present last night. Definite results from the present depth should be available within a day or two. If the present horizon is not found to be commercially satisfactory further coring will be continued to depth.

A rig has been shipped by the Palm interests for work on structural requirements in the Rubstone field just east of here. It is the intention to put down several of these holes prior to locating for a deeper test.

Peninsular Petroleum Wainwright Petroleum, Baskin, Beaumont, Senior Oils and other partially developed properties which expect to resume work on their holdings, have not yet inaugurated their program.

Cheaper radium and larger quantities of it are regarded as possibilities from an extraction process which makes use of radioactive ores that are found in almost unlimited quantities in California.

Mr. Love quoted figures to show that when the government entered office the system was from a financial standpoint in a very bad condition while today the balance sheet shows, that by only building extensions that would vary more or less on a patronage basis. To-day grants are made direct to municipal districts worked out on a definite basis what takes in to consideration miles of road population, costs of construction etc. The member stated that the backbone of Alberta main highway system was now completed for the past nine years were then dealt with by the setting member.

Mr. Love concluded the first part of his report by reviewing the Highway policy of the government. In 1921 grants were made to constituencies and were more or less on a patronage basis. ## Everything Has Its Price

I was so busy being mad about the sharp way Will had spoken when I sneezed on the putting green—good heavens when a person sneezes they have to sneeze—that I scarcely heard what Helen was saying. Really I didn't think a day could be worse than that Saturday. But the next Monday was much worse. And Tuesday and Wednesday.

For Mother left Sunday for Minneapolis. She had planned on going up for a month with Kathie; but she wasn't going to leave until after the tournament. Sunday she got a wire. My brother-in-law had to leave a week earlier for the convention and Kathie was having trouble with the new baby's formula and didn't want to stay alone. I always did suspect that Kathie was Mother's favorite, and without a second thought for the situation it left me in Mother packed up and left for Minneapolis Sunday night.

Will and I spent all Sunday afternoon down in the kitchen. The tracks got some girl to come and stay afterwards with the children that one last precious week. We took the twins with us and drove from house to house. At first we were afraid we couldn't find anybody. There was a kind of summer grip going around then and the girls were all busy at home.

Finally, just as we were about to give up in despair, we found a girl. She was the dumbest thing and she insisted upon thirty-five cents an hour, though she didn't look to be worth ten. However we were too desperate to be choosy, so we took her. She came fifteen minutes early every day, and it took me fifteen minutes more to show her just how to give the babies their supper though I had everything ready for her. Wednesday, Will kept blowing the horn impatiently all the time I was talking to her. I'd cleaned that morning and was tired to begin with. Will was tired too, he'd got up at half past five and mowed the lawn before breakfast. Of course, we both played worse than usual. And the beginning of the tournament only three days off. We went around the course in a kind of tense, grim silence, as near disliking each other as any married couple ever ought to be.

"We haven't a Chinaman's chance of winning any prize at all," I said gloomily, as we climbed into the flivver to drive home.

"We certainly haven't," said Will. If you can't keep your eye on the ball when you are driving, we'd better drop out and not just make a show of ourselves."

"Well, if I began angrily. By my voice broke and I could go on. I was so hurt and mad that I knew in another minute I would be crying.

It was gutty hot and we were both dripping and dirty. Will didn't love me any more and I would have to cook supper after we got home. I thought of the Carstairs' fresh and cool after a bath, sitting down right now to supper, out on the club veranda, it seemed to me that life wasn't worth living. Neither of us spoke another word all the way home.

"How are the children?" I asked the girl as we climbed out of the flivver.

"Yes," she said, looking dumber than usual, if possible. I supposed that meant they were all right.

But just as I went out to put on the tea water, I heard Jack cough. In a couple of minutes he coughed again. I went up and gave him a drink and let it sit on a tray. I have found that it is always a wise precaution to have a little benzoin steam in the room at the first cough with a bronchitis cough. I had a nip with a possible trouble in the bud. He quieted down right away. Sometimes in the night with a miserable feeling and as soon as I had a nap, Jack was coughing again. I went in and lit the kettle again. Will heard me up and came in too. We don't dare go to bed with the kettle going—some people do, but we are both afraid of fire—and Will said for me to go back to bed; he'd sit up for an hour or so. I went back to bed, but I couldn't go to sleep. It was beginning to get light when I went in again.

"He is still barking away," said Will. "Maybe you'd better take his temperature."

I always take the children's temperature when there's anything the matter. It is always so reassuring to see the old mercury around ninety-eight and six tenths you know then that it is nothing serious.

At first I thought it was the faint light that I couldn't see the thermometer right. I took it in the bathroom and put on the electricity. I stared under the glaring light afraid to believe my eyes. I hadn't made any mistake. The mercury stood at a hundred and four and four tenths.

Will went right down and called the doctor. Doctor McIntosh sounded kind of cross and sleepy at first Will said, but when he heard Jack's temperature he asked Will if he was sure I hadn't made a mistake in reading it, and then he said he would be right over. The first thing he did was to take Jack's temperature again, him self, and while I should have felt terribly stupid and guilty if he'd found I had been wrong, it was worse still when he nodded that I had been right. He looked into Jack's ears with his little electric light.

"Hope not," said Doctor McIntosh briefly. "Give him a lukewarm sponge. Plenty of water and orange juice—if he wants anything to eat give him a little gruel. Dissolve them in a glass of water and start him on 'em every two hours."

He never has much to say but as he went out, he added:

"Keep the little girl away from him. It'll be again late in the afternoon and from the doorway he looked back at me sharply. 'And don't be taking his temperature every half hour.'"

That was enough. Dr. McIntosh is always terribly busy, and abrupt and he never pays two visits a day unless it is serious. He left me feeling quite shaky, but strong; you know the way you feel when you are up against a real job.

"I didn't leave any time to stand around and shake other. His directions kept me going like the wind all day. Will had an important appointment and couldn't stay home. Jill, suddenly without a playmate, tagged the every step I took. She couldn't understand why she couldn't see Jack or why I didn't want her to shout and chatter up and down stairs as usual. She had to be given her meals of course and I tried to remember that she was just a baby and I must not be cross with her. The girl who had been coming at five didn't come. Her mother telephoned that she was sick too. I forgot that I'd ever thought I was tired.

Late in the afternoon, Jack began to hold his hand over one ear. When the doctor came he didn't have much to say but I could see he didn't like the way things were going. He looked in Jack's ear again with his electric light, and frowned. I hadn't studied all the baby books for nothing. He was afraid it was middle-ear.

When he left I looked at Will. Something was inside me turned all weak and watery. Whenever I've been scared I have always depended on Will. And I could see from his look that he was scared too. Now Will made me go to bed the first half of the night and he stayed with Jack. I didn't feel tired at all but I was kind of shaky. At two o'clock I got up and Will went to bed.

Jack couldn't lie still with his ear on the hot water bag; he would turn and turn and whimper in a pitiful little voice and put his hand over his ear.

Friday was a queer nightmare. Will was up early getting breakfast-making me drink coffee. Home again in the middle of the morning, taking Jill away with him for a couple of hours. Jack was trying to keep me from seeing he was scared. Patting me on the shoulder. Home again at night putting Jill to bed. Making coffee again and making me drink it.

In the queer pale, gray half-light just before sunrise Saturday morning I got up and went into Jack's room. Will stayed with him but I could not sleep. I knew Will must be in so I whispered to him to go to bed. I drew over the rocker and sat down beside him by Jack's bed. There was "my anything to do, but I felt better soon.

Soon the gray light in the room changed to faint yellowish red. The sun was up. Will leaned forward to look at Jack, suddenly drew me forward too. Jack was lying very still but his eyes were wide open and he was in a stiff terror. I coughed his little hand on the sheet. It was relaxed and limp. And softly warm, not hot. He was sleeping comfortably.

When I woke up from the first real sleep I'd had in days, the afternoon sun was streaming in at the windows. Will came into my room and I started guiltily. I couldn't seem to remember a thing after the doctor's early morning visit when he had said Jack was going to be all right. I did remember vaguely Will pushing me back to bed, saying he would stay home from the tournament.

"Where is Jill?" It must be time to get dinner—I—

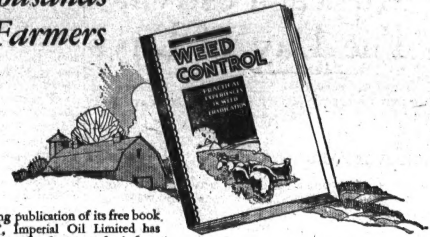

Will grinned. "Calm yourself, calm yourself," he said. Everything is tended to. Rosie Merton heard about Jack this morning and she was here inside of an hour, with our dinner in the fireless cooker and some broth for Jack. She has taken Jill with her for the day and night."

I felt tears of sheer gratitude rush to my eyes. When you are in real need of help, commend me to the woman who has four children of her own and more work than she can do. Jack was asleep and so was Will. I was sitting out on our front steps when I saw Helen Carstairs coming up the walk. She'd just heard that morning that Jack was sick.

"I'm so relieved that he's better," she said. "I'd have been over first thing but you know, today was the beginning of the tournament."

"Tournament?" I repeated vaguely.

THIS FREE BOOK is now being distributed to thousands of Farmers

SINCE announcing publication of its free book "Weed Control", Imperial Oil Limited has received many thousands of requests for it from farmers of every province.

This book is now being distributed. If you desire a copy write for it immediately.

"Weed Control" was prepared with the idea of meeting two urgent national needs. First—to impress on Canadians the extreme gravity of the weed situation. Second—to assist farmers in their fight against weeds by supplying them with the best and latest information relating to weed extermination.

Every phase of this acute problem is dealt with in "Weed Control". The Honorable Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, is its editor, and practical farmers, experimental farms, agricultural colleges, and weed authorities from all parts of Canada contribute to its pages.

By adopting the suggestions contained in this free volume thousands of farmers will be better equipped to fight weeds and eventually eradicate them. Every chapter is full of interesting facts, written in plain, simple English.

"Weed Control" is a companion volume to "Field and Farm Yard" which was distributed last year by Imperial Oil to more than 65,000 farmers.

Speeding Up Your Turnover

When your merchandise turnover is sluggish and your revenue falls off it's time to look your business squarely in the eye.

Looking, you're likely to find two particularly disturbing factors. One is that some of your customers are shopping outside of Wainwright. The other is that these same customers, and some others also, are buying from mail order houses.

Disturbing as these conditions are, advertising is a way of getting around them. Advertising, that is, where it can do the most good, advertising where your customers are certain to see it—advertising in your local, home newspaper.

Your own advertising is essential. There's no doubt of that. But if your merchandise turnover is to speed up and stay that way, the advertising support of the manufacturers whose commodities you handle is just as necessary.

And you can go a long way in enlisting the support of these manufacturers quite easily.

When the salesmen of the manufacturers whose goods you stock call on you, impress them with this thought: If you are to do any sizable amount of business you must keep Wainwright's folk coming to your stores and that advertising in your local, home newspaper—your own and that of the manufacturer—is therefore an absolute necessity.

Make this thought impressive enough and the salesmen are bound to convey it to their home offices where advertising monies are decided upon and advertising media selected.

You need the advertising aid of the manufacturers whose goods you stock—urge their salesmen to recommend your local home newspaper

SARAH HANNAH'S WEDDING

BY FLORENCE E. WESTACOTT

Aunt Maria laughed in her sparkling way. You are like Sarah Hannah Swan, she declared in answer to something I had said, 'you do not know your own mind!'

'What about Sarah Hannah?' I asked.

'Now where did I put my knitting?' queried Aunt Maria. 'Oh, yes, here you are, a pair of long, b-c needles with a mesh of pink and wool depending. I must finish this jacket for Fannie's baby. What were we saying? Oh about Sarah Hannah Swan! Well, I'll have to go right back to the beginning to get it right.

Sarah Hannah was just a pretty, little thing—light hair, blue eyes—didn't look to have an ounce of get-up-and-go in her. When she was about eighteen she and Tom Logan began keeping company. Tom was clerk at Bob Wilson's store. It was little enough he had in the way of prospects. But I've often noticed that girls brought up on the farm want to get into the city—else they want to marry a store clerk. So Sarah Hannah was only being true to the first of them. And most people seemed to wonder what a handsome young fellow like Tom Logan could see in a shop like Sarah Hannah's. But Sarah Hannah was possible enough—rather pretty—I used to think when you came to look into her, still, nobody paid much heed here at home until a surprise turned up.

Old Bob Graham, who had gone on being a bachelor till he was turned sixty, had a son on that it was time for him to be thinking about getting a wife. And so he would he had, but Sarah Hannah! Old Bob was considered well off. He lent out money on mortgage, like his father and his grandfather before him; he didn't take up with the new fangled ways of investing in stocks and bonds. He held a mortgage on the run-down farm of Henry Swan, the father of Sarah Hannah. It was said around here that Henry Swan would never manage to pay off any sort of debt in his life.

Well, old Bob Graham and old man Swan got together, so the story went, and the outcome was that old Swan told Sarah Hannah that she was to marry Bob Graham. She refused and cried so hard. The more she cried the angrier her father got and the more he shouted and threatened what he'd do if he caught her going around with that young man, Tom Logan.

Old Bob was willing to wait until Sarah Hannah was twenty. She wasn't an idiot, he said, and she wasn't going to pass over a solid, well-to-do man like himself, just in his petting, for a young whippersnapper store clerk who owned nothing but good looks—and even as to the looks—they were no great shakes! Sarah Hannah stood firm for a while. She showed enough to run the very eyes out of her head, she was so taken up with Tom Logan. But her whole family was against her—father, mother, two sisters, two brothers. A selfish lot you say? Well, yes! But then you'll run up against a family like that, in a life-time. I could tell you more than one tale.

To get back to where I was at, they all went on at Sarah Hannah until she gave in. She told Tom that she couldn't help herself, and she must not see him again—she was going to marry old Bob Graham. Tom took it in high disgust. Then he started making up with Daisy Pottinger, a pretty little fly-away thing who had been trying to out in between Tom and Sarah Hannah for a long time.

Sarah Hannah got busy over her housework and never showed herself out of doors except to church on Sundays.

Old Bob Graham painted his house inside and out, and bought new curtains and stuff. Some furniture came from the city by freight. He went around looking quite proud. He seemed to delight in being chaffed—fairly asked for it. Altogether he made a spectacle of himself as might be expected of an old body of sixty.

Well, no matter! The wedding presents were pouring in. I looked out a piece of table linen from among the pile I always have by me. But I made up my mind, just those go who wanted to gape, I would never set foot within the church to witness such a marriage, nor in the house to join in the high jinks to follow. I sent my bit of embroidery though—just to show that it wasn't for lack of something to give I was staying away.

To my surprise, a day or two later Sarah Hannah came over to buy a new dress. She wanted to know if I would come to see her married, and seemed to take it hard when I tried to get out of promising. So in the end, I told her I couldn't say about the church—I was afraid it would be too late for me, with the hot weather we were having just then—but I might see her afterwards to wish her luck.

Poor little thing! I felt sorry for her. To think of her being the all of the whole countryside! But then, everybody blamed the family. I noticed a haunted look in her eyes. It bothered me. Away over yonder the blue jays were calling to one another in the pine trees, and a noisy black squirrel was mocking them. Every thing sounded so free. I saw her glaze out of the window once—sort of far-off. But I don't know whether Sarah Hannah ever had such thoughts.

Preparations went merrily on, and the wedding day arrived at last. And then there was a fine bulla-buloo, if you like! The bride to be had out and run. She had slipped out of the house early; and, whatever way she had taken to the station, no one knew a thing until she was seen, boarding the morning train for the city. I've heard tell of nine days wonders but there was more than that of it!

Old man Swan took the evening train and went straight to Sarah Hannah's, his own sister, in his eye. I must say that, from all I ever did hear, he got more than he bargained for from her!

Sarah Hannah was here, and there she was going to stay, said her aunt. She was eighteen past, and free to please herself. She declared she wanted to go into a store and earn her own living; and she didn't want to see anybody just now—only to be left alone please. Well, Sarah Hannah was to be left alone; and allowed to follow her own notions, if her aunt had anything to do with it. The rest of the family might as well up by old Bob Graham. Likely they would be—and great pity about them. Let them get out and do just whatever they could find to do—no odds what. They were none of them any great purr-purrs!

So as Swan came back madder than when he went.

Old Bob Graham couldn't take it in at all. He used to go over to Swan and hang around, every evening after train time. He held it to that Sarah would think better and come home. Young girls might be flighty at times he allowed; but they could be counted on to return to reason in the long run. Let her hide her head, he'd always say, as he was leaving, 'she will come to her senses in a week.'

But week after week went by and no Sarah Hannah. She got a situation in a shop—her aunt wouldn't tell which or where—and letters from home were left unanswered. Old Bob began, little by little, to show that he had a nasty temper when things went against him. If all accounts are true, he commenced threatening the Swans with a bill of damages for the expense he had been put to. And that mortgage of his was long overdue, he reminded them.

It's hard to guess what might have been the outcome of the whole affair if something unexpected hadn't happened. The sky looked pretty black for the Swans then, when to the astonishment of everyone, old Bob was seen with the feather-headed Daisy Pottinger in his car. Before you could say 'pitchfork' they had off with them and got married.

Old Bob was so pleased with himself, and in such fine humor, that he gave the Swans a renewal on their mortgage. Likely he decided he would pack them later on. After a while Sarah Hannah came back. She was really needed at home; and her people promised not to interfere with her any more, or say a word amiss to her Sarah Hannah had got tired of the city.

She and Tom Logan made it up and began going around together again. But things never seemed, somehow to be quite the same between them. They fell out or had coolnesses pretty often.

Aunt Maria smoothed her pink knitting, stroked it over her knee and examined it carefully, her brow puckered in thought.

'And didn't they get married?' I inquired at length.

'No. The love and romance had died out—I suppose that was it—and they gradually drifted apart.' Aunt Maria sighed. Next moment her eyes sparkled again.

To think of all the fine Sarah Hannah made over losing Tom Logan! And then! after getting him back—Oh, well here's where I say that some of us don't always know our own minds. In the end she married Billy Brooks, a widower from away up country. He had three children and a big farmhouse to look after, and goodness knows how many cows to milk! But he kept good help for her and although she had more to do than ever as he had in her life before, she looked happy.

A couple of years later Billy Brooks sold his farm and went away out west. I daresay he had got enough of the Swan family, as anyone would, and was glad enough to get away from them. He did well, out there, so I have heard.

It all goes to prove that even if we don't always know exactly what we want, or what is best for us things usually come out right some how, if we make any sort of attempt to help ourselves.

Old Bob Graham led poor foolish Daisy a hard life. And he outlived her in the end—his living yet. So it was just as well for Sarah Hannah Swan that she got up the spunk to run away!

Mental activity and imagination are functions involving the whole body, rather than the brain alone. Experiments at the University of Chicago indicate. The conclusions were reached after with an extremely delicate instrument, a string galvanometer, so sensitive that it detects one-millionth of a volt of electricity.

THE WEED INSPECTOR

As Mr P. Huxley, the field Supervisor of the department of agriculture points out—Maybe you consider him a pest? Perhaps not! Every good farmer in his own weed inspector and he conscientiously sees that all noxious and other weeds on his place are properly controlled and eradicated. "Fine," you say "But why the weed-inspectors?" The answer is simply this. The weed-inspector's purpose is to see that uniform weed control measures are practiced on all farms, simply to protect the clean farmers from the pollution of the infested farms and to help all with their weed problems. To be fair and just he must inspect all the land; So don't hold a grudge or think that he is "set on" by the neighbours when he visits you. He is working in your interests, he is for you, "tooth and nail" So greet him with a smile tell him your weed problems and co-operate with him for cleaner and better farming. Friendship is proven by the test of time. The weed-inspector will stand the test.

The following will likely be the weed-inspectors for this district:
GIR Edge M.D. 422, A. H. Edger-
Heath, Battle River M.D. 423, Mr.
Elliot of Irma. Vale M.D. 382, L. E.
Byrnes, of Edgerton and Mr. Brown of Metiskow.

The department takes this opportunity to wish them every success in their important work.

THIRD FORTNIGHTLY

CROP REPORT.

During the first week of the past fortnight the weather was generally clear with slightly higher temperature prevailing. Local rains occurred in the Southern and Eastern parts of the Province. High winds were of frequent occurrence and some damage resulted due to soil drifting.

On May 26th a heavy wind swept over the central portion of the Province particularly from Oke to Lacombe and eastward, doing damage to crops sown on mammoth hills. In the Edmonton district the wind was followed by rain and snow, the great snow being reported from the area lying North of Edmonton though not extending to the Peace River District. A large area to the South and East of the City received a supply of much needed moisture. At present all parts of the Province report sufficient moisture for immediate needs.
Frost has done considerable damage to trees, shrubs and early garden plants but only slight damage to field crops.

All wheat is seeded and 75% above ground. Out seeding is complete with the exception of oats for green feed, and barley is 75% sown. Growth is slow but the grain is of good color and establishing a good root system. The crop has gone in early and having sufficient moisture for germination is away to a good start.
All spring rye and 90% of sugar beets is seeded. There is a slight increase in the area devoted to sugar beets.

Weeds are unusually bad in early sown fields. Slight damage is reported due to wire worms and cut worms.
Correspondents generally agree that an increased acreage has been sown of sweet clover, alfalfa and grass seeds. Hay and pasture crops are making excellent growth and live-stock is progressing favorably.

Lloydminster's newspaper is as old as the town itself—twenty-five years.
Of course it has done more to build up that vast territory than any other institution or group of individuals.

Day-coach passengers now enjoy
some of the luxury of a railroad parlor car in seats that both recline and revolve so that they can be set at a comfortable angle or turned to the window.

FLIGHT STORY OF

R-100 TO BE TOLD

As soon as the R-100 is within reach of the Canadian broadcasting station on its epic flight across the Atlantic word will flash across the continent and radio stations will give the story of its flight as it progresses to the St. Hubert airport. The report of the trip will be heard in the most remote corners of Canada
through the medium of Canadian National Railways and Associated radio stations located in 20 cities.

Citizens of Calgary and district will hear the progress of the trip through the medium of station CFAC
the Calgary Herald radio station.
The tale of her progress will be told by two government announcers stationed in the top of the mooring mast.
Their voices will be carried to Montreal where, from a special switchboard of the Bell Telephone Company
they will be relayed to the radio broadcasting stations throughout Canada.

The Canadian National wires will carry it to the various cities, from where they will broadcast over the radio to the millions of listeners in interested in the trip, but unable to join the many thousands who will be at the airport.

This will be one of the most complete radio hook-ups ever attempted in Canada. A description of the arrival will also be broadcast in French for the benefit of the French Canadians.

The dirigible was expected to arrive about May 25, but has been de-laid in the preparations for leaving and will not arrive until about June 1

VOTERS' LISTS FOR PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

Section 16 of Chapter 34 of the Statutes of Alberta 1924, with amendments of 1925, reads as follows:—

"The persons entitled to have their names placed on the list of voters by enumeration shall be those mentioned in the following three classes:—
"(a) Every person, whether male or female, shall be qualified to have his or her name placed on the list of voters who is a British subject of the full age of 21 years and has resided in Alberta for at least twelve months and in the electoral division for which the list is being made for at least two months immediately preceding the date of the writ of election;

"(b) Any person otherwise qualified, who is a resident of an electoral division and has been a resident in Alberta for at least twelve months prior to the said date, but who has not been a resident of the electoral division for two months immediately prior to the said date, shall be entitled to have his or her name placed on the list of voters for the electoral division and polling subdivision of and within which he or she was last a resident for two continuous months during the said period of twelve months. Such person shall not be entitled to a certificate to vote at any poll.

"(c) Any person otherwise qualified who becomes a naturalized British subject or who attains the full age of twenty-one years or who has been a resident in Alberta for at least twelve months and in the electoral division for at least two months immediately preceding and including the date fixed for the revision of the list, shall be entitled to have his or her name placed on the list of voters by the enumerator or in the city polls in a city constituency by the returning officer on the day of the revision of the said list.

"17. Any person otherwise qualified who becomes a naturalized British subject, or who attains the full age of twenty-one years or who has been a resident in Alberta for at least twelve months and in the electoral division for at least two months immediately preceding and including the date fixed for the polling day, shall be entitled to have his or her name placed on the list of voters by the deputy returning officer on polling day as hereinafter provided.

"18. Each person shall be entitled to have his or her name placed on the list of voters for the polling subdivision where he or she has or had his or her house, fixed, permanent home or lodging place respectively for such two months and such home or lodging place shall be given as his or her address on the said list."

FIELD DAY FOR BEEKEEPERS

Everybody interested in bees and honey, is invited to attend a beekeepers field day to be held Wednesday June 4th, in one of H. W. Love's apiaries just west of Irma. Mr. S. D. Hiltnerud, Provincial Apiarist and Mr. W. H. Scott, district agriculturist, of Sedgewick, will be on hand at 1 p.m. and will stay as long as necessary, to handle the bees and answer any problems pertaining to bee culture. Swarm prevention and proper preparation of bees for honey crop will be discussed by Mr. Hiltnerud. Whether you have bees or not Mr. Hiltnerud is well worth hearing on this industry.

PLANT GOOD SEEDS PROPERLY

The amateur gardener who remembers these four words will avoid many of the pitfalls into which beginners are likely to fall.

There is no more prolific source of failure among amateurs than hasty, careless or improper sowing of the seed. A dry seed may retain its vitality for years, but after germination has commenced a check of a day or two in the process may prove fatal. There is no time in the life of a plant when it is so susceptible of injury from too much or too little heat and moisture as at the period between the commencement of germination and the formation of the first true leaves. Enthusiastic gardeners are choosing the proper seed from the store around the corner. But when they plant this seed they should be sure it has a constant and proper degree of moisture, a proper degree of heat, that it is covered with the proper thickness of earth, and that the soil is such that the young stem can penetrate it and the young roots find food.

The soil should always be moist, never wet. To secure this cover the seed as soon as it is planted with well pulverized, freshly prepared earth, pressing it firmly over the seed. A small board may be placed upon the row and walked upon, or the back of the hoe used—the directions should be followed in some way, if you start your seedlings properly.

FINDS COST OF LIVING

DROPPING, BUT HIGHER

THAN IN SPRING, 1929

OTTAWA—The cost of living in Canada, based on the retail prices of food, fuel, rent, clothing and sundries, was lower in April than in any of the past six months, although prices remained slightly higher than in the spring of 1929. The Dominion bureau of statistics' index prices for April show a reduction of nearly 2 per cent since the first of the year.

The price of clothing, according to this index, is lower today than in any time since 1919, but this reduction has been offset by the fact that rents are now higher than at any other time on record. The index for 46 food items was, however, lower than for any month since September, and the cost of fuel lower than in any month since November, was also lower than in April last year.

Decrease in the cost of living has been general in the past few months throughout the world, according to the advices of the various countries. Every country registered a decrease in March from the preceding month and ten of the thirteen reporting countries show decreases in March, 1930, from March 1929.

BEAUTIFY YOUR HOMES

Mr. R. L. Wilbur, secretary of the Interior of the United States says: "Did you ever stop to think what a flower garden means?"
Flowers are perhaps useless, they last but for a little while, and yet their presence in the home give it a recognized character. We cannot cut them, we can only see them and smell them. We gather them for weddings and birthdays. We place them about the dead. Their one great value is beauty.

"It is the love of beauty and the recognition of it by bringing it to our doorsteps that separates us off from the beasts. It is this love of beauty, it is the values associated with it that connect us up with the Divine.

A flower garden costs but little but it means much. A few seeds, a little dirt, a little energy, some water, a box in the window or soil about the house, and our children can learn to understand life, to love color, to appreciate order, and to admire beauty. And our neighbors and the stranger passing by can get a bit of happiness and cheer."

The trans-Atlantic speed record between the ports of Liverpool and Sydney, was broken recently by the arrival at the latter port of the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of York, a crossing from Liverpool which took 32 days, 22 hours and 14 minutes. According to local shipping men this is the first time in the history of the port that a crossing has been made in under seven days.

Twelve thousand pounds of Quebec maple sugar and syrup were handled daily during the latter part of April by the Canadian Pacific Express Company to points overseas. The Prairie Provinces, Ottawa, constituting what is claimed to be a record movement of this dainty. Outside commercial uses, demand for this product arises on the part of individuals who make a practice of shipping it to relatives and friends in the Old Country and the west of Canada.

Close on six million dollars were spent on New Brunswick roads during 1929, being reconstruction of 221 miles of main trunk highways and 1139 miles of secondary roads. This is regarded as the most extensive programme of highway construction, improvement and maintenance ever undertaken in the Province.

Snapped in Hyde Park, London, England, recently, Hon. Barnaby Howard, little son of Lord Strathcona and descendant of the great Canadian who was one of the founders of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was photographed. His father, the Hon. Arthur Howard, is his cousin, the small daughter of the Hon. Mrs. Arthur Howard. Both children are living links with the great past when one of the major events in the history of Canada was in the making.

Organized a few years ago by a group of farmers' wives with Mrs. Bertha Holmes, of Assiniboia, Sask., as president, the Saskatchewan Poultry Pool handles about 75 per cent. of the entire egg production of the province. Last year the Pool turned over 26,840,184 eggs, valued at $450,000; 825,133 pounds of dressed poultry valued at $184,000, and 39,561 pounds of live poultry at $5,000, or a total turnover of $730,000 for the year.

After 15 years of seed planting, the experimental work of the Canadian Government Department of Agriculture has developed sixteen varieties of apple trees suited to the climatic conditions of the prairie provinces. Of these varieties two have been graded "very good," and four "good."

The first "Improved Sire Area" in Manitoba has been established in the municipality of Roland, according to announcement made by Albert Prefontaine, Minister of Agriculture of the province. Under this scheme all bulls, boars and rams must be inspected and approved before owners are permitted to retain them for service in the Area.

A COLUMN OF WIT & HUMOR

Why, old man, there were so many of us children, that we had to eat at three tables—first, second and third, you know, like a church supper. I was the unluckiest little fellow in the world.

'Yes? How so?' said I

'Why,' said the opponent of birth control, 'I, being the youngest, always had to eat at the third table and believe it or not—I was 14 years old before I knew a chicken had anything
but a neck.'

'See that girl across there? She's a miss with a mission.'
'And what is the mission?'
'A man with a mission.'

Dr. Hilary D. McManis said in Toledo in a lecture on birth control:
'Even the opponents of birth control make damaging admissions now and then. One of our bitterest opponents said to me, the other day—
'All the same, old man, a little birth control in our family wouldn't have done much harm at that.'

Mrs. Newlywed: 'Will you try some of my angel cake?'
Mr. Newlywed: 'No thank you.'
Mrs. Newlywed (pouting): 'Why are you afraid it isn't good enough?'
Mr. Newlywed: 'No, I'm afraid I am not good enough, my love.'

Mrs. Newlywed (angrily): 'Good enough for what, dear?'
Mr. Newlywed: 'Good enough to be come an angel.'

Parson, meeting neighbor bringing home a load of hay—Jenkins!
Would it be better if you attended services instead of working this hay?
Jenkins—Mr. Dawkins. I don't know whether it would be best to sit on the load of hay and think of religion or sit in church and think of the hay.

A little girl was acting as bridesmaid at a wedding. When the ceremony was over she asked the bride
if she was feeling very tired.
'No.'
'No,' was the reply. 'Why do you ask?'

'Well,' said the little girl, 'Mother said the other day that you'd been running after Mr. Jones for the last two years.'

'I suppose you know your little town fairly well,' remarked the recent arrival to the oldest inhabitant.
'Rather.'

'Do you know Jew's walk?'

'No.'

'Well, they do,' replied the recent arrival as he dodged around the corner.

The late Thomas F. Ryan said one day at a luncheon in the Metropolitan Club:

'The suspicion that once existed between capital and labor has practically died out. Most of this suspicion was based on an error anyway.
Yes, the recriminations on both sides
were often as erroneous as the shameful attack on widows that was contained in the schoolboy's examination paper.'

In answer to the question, 'Tell what you know about the Black Hole
of Calcutta,' this schoolboy wrote:
'A lot of Eng-ah-men were shu-ut'

in the Black Hole of Calcutta with one small window and four cows out live.

His worship: You say you know all your life. Now do you think he would be guilty of stealing this money?

Witness: How much was it

Gambling is the most fertile means yet discovered for getting rid of

A girl was asked what she thought of married life.

'Oh, there's not much difference',
she replied. 'I used to wait up half the night for my man to go, and now I wait up half the night for him to come home.'

HARMONIZING THE HOME

By Betty Barclay

'You have a wonderful home
Marie. Everything harmonizes so perfectly. Why, even your floors and your curtains . . .'

Praise like this keeps crowding
from the corners of a woman's eyes
and worry lines from her brow.
Praise like this repays a thousand times for any effort and expense necessary to make a new home beautiful or to beautify an old one.

At no time in the history of this world were homes so beautiful as they are today. Oak floors are selected to harmonize with woodwork and increase the effectiveness of various rooms. Bathrooms are resplendent in colored tile. Bed spreads glisten in gold, blue or green. The dishes on the table are likely to be of sparkling jewel-like glass in lovely shades of topaz, amber, rose green or azure.

The pink room of grandmother's time has given place to a room decorated in new and more colors than blind harmoniously. Grandmother was content if her spread her curtains and her carpet blended. Sometimes she was able to secure a little of her favorite color in her furniture. But today the entire room must be blended beauty. A nondescript floor would mar the ensemble. An electric lamp with a shade of wrong color would spoil the effect. A skilled decorator or woman's intuition, insists that everything must harmonize if perfect satisfaction is to be assured.

Beautiful floors are far more important than many suppose. Shabby floors easily destroy what might otherwise be a very attractive interior. Then again, a hardwood floor such as oak, is not only beautiful but sanitary. It contains no cracks in which dirt or germs may settle.

By all means see that such floors are used in your home, or if you are not fortunate enough to possess a new home, see that they are placed in your old one. Oak flooring may be laid over the present floor with as good results as may be obtained by tearing out the old floor and placing a new one in its place.

Once this floor has been installed
the possessor will find it much easier to keep clean than the ordinary floor. Water oil, kerosene, turpentine soap or other alkaline substances should never be used as cleaning agents. The floor has of course been waxed, varnished or shellaced. From day to day it can be gone over with a vacuum cleaner or a broom covered with cotton flannel.

If the floor is waxed it should be brushed with a weighted brush or polisher about once a month. Except in cases of unusual wear the floor will need re-waxing only once about a year. Even this re-waxing is simple. Apply a thin coat rub well into the wood, allow to dry for an hour and then polish thoroughly. Before re-waxing the floor scrub it carefully on this occasion with turpentine and a piece of cheese cloth.

After fifteen years of seed planting the experimental work of the Dominion Department of Agriculture has developed sixteen varieties of apple seeds suited to the climatic conditions of the Prairie Provinces.

Of these varieties two have been graded "very good" and four "good".
Horticultural experts point out, however, that it will take several more tree generations to evolve the ideal species. Prairie farmers can help in this work by getting seed from the

With a prepared acreage greater by 21 per cent. than that of 1929, a better moisture situation and other indications presaging general good conditions for the year, the Canadian West is now busy seeding, according to the latest report of the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Nearly $28,000,000 was voted by the Ontario Legislature recently for hydro-electric development work to be undertaken this year in the province for the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission, a provincial government organization.
Over $18,000,000 is to be spent on the extension of the Niagara hydro system, upon which many millions have already been spent to provide cheap electric power over a wide area of rural and urban territory.

'There is a very large amount of capital in England ready for investment and it is felt in that country that it should go to Canada,' said Major L. A. Jones, economic editor of the London Morning Post, who landed recently at Saint John from S.S. Duchess of Athol, on a trip to Canada for the purpose of fostering better economic relations between the Dominion and the Motherland.

Four new game refuges adding 500 square miles to the existent
640 square miles of game sanctuaries in New Brunswick are to be established in that province for the purpose of preservation of the game supply, according to information given out by Hon. Charles D.
Richards, Minister of Lands and Mines.

Fish caught by commercial fishermen in Canadian waters last year
had a value of about $55,000,000.
Over 100 countries bought fish and fish products from the Dominion in 1929, valued at $18,000,000. More than 80,000 persons find employment in Canada in the fishing industry.

The wild rose is now the floral emblem of the province of Alberta.
The provincial parliament has enacted the legislation making this flower, which grows so profusely all over Alberta, the provincial symbol. Choice of the emblem was put up to the school children of Alberta and the wild rose captured most votes, with the tiger
lily next in favor.

Homestead entries taken out
through the Dominion Land Office at Edmonton during the month of March last broke all records for that month with a total of 271 homesteads and 19 soldier grants which compares with 230 homesteads in March, 1928, the previous record March.

Contrary to the general impression, Canadian investments in the United States are greater, per capita, than American investments in the Dominion. An official statement just issued shows that the average Canadian has $100 invested in the United States and the average American about $29 invested in Canada.

Something more than appearance
will be necessary for grain to win
a prize at the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference to be held at Regina, July 25 to August 6, 1932. All entries getting into the prize money at this Exhibition will be expected, be in demand for seed. It is because of the importance of the effect of the distribution of this prize seed to farmers in Canada and throughout the world that the Awards Committee has decided that the usual judging standards will be supplemented by a growing test, which in reality is the test supreme.

THE STAR HAS LEARNED THAT --

BORN—To Mr and Mrs Ernest Hill at the Wainwright municipal hospital on May 22nd, a girl.

BORN—To Mr and Mrs G. Newell, of Edgerton, at the Wainwright municipal hospital, on May 25th, a boy.

On a visit to his parents in town Mr Fred Pawling, manager of the Bank of Montreal at Mundare, spent the week end in town.

*** Times are hard and lumber is cheap. This is the best year to build the new home you have been planning so long. Atlas Lumber Co Phone 57

It is pleasing to note that little Walker Polmar, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the hospital is now recovering nicely.

Miss Kathleen Hart and Miss Stewart motored over from Strome to spend the week end with Mr and Mrs F. Hart.

Our town readers will do well to note that advertisement of the Wainwright Gas Co as to cutting off the gas tomorrow and govern themselves accordingly so as to save the chances of an accident.

*** Joe Welch wishes to announce that he has been licensed by the government to write hail insurance and that he is in a position to insure crops in reliable companies and obtain speedy adjustments in case of loss.

Mr Fred Redgwell, accountant, of the Bank of Montreal, spent a couple of days in the hospital last week end when he underwent an operation for adenoids and tonsillitis. He is now getting along nicely.

The younger fry of our town will do well to note the advt. of the Calgary Power Co on page four with regard to a reward being paid against lamp breakers. One of the town boys paid a stiff fine in court last week for this offence, and the company are determined to put a stop to this.

Barney Buckle, who was former townman here, has again started clerking in the Washburn hardware, and looks quite natural at it, too!

*** Paint up your buildings and improve their appearance and value. Use Bapco pure paint sold at the Atlas yard. Joe Welch, mgr.

Just to remind the members of the local lodge of Oddfellows that, care will leave the lodgement at six o'clock this evening (Wednesday) for the fraternal visit to Chauvin. Be on time.

Mr C. Wittmann, ledger keeper at the Montreal is away on his annual holidays for a couple of weeks.

The first number of the Daysland Commercial has reached our desk and judging by the first issue, the facile pen of Editor Johnson will place an attractive and newsy sheet into the Daysland homes. It is full well supported by the local merchants there, too.

*** Mr R. G. Dunsmore has been appointed district agent for the Alberta Seed Growers' association under the department of agriculture. Farmers requiring registered seed grain should obtain prices and place their orders with "Bob" at the Alberta Pacific elevator. Phone him at No. 8

Mrs R. Chelley and daughter of Black Diamond are here visiting at the home of her parents for a few days

Our town has been so busy with different convention and gatherings during the past week that it has had quite a casual appearance. On Friday last no less than 217 autos were counted on Main street at one time, proving Wainwright to be quite a center of attraction.

On Sunday June 8th, which is the anniversary Sunday of the United church of Canada, special services will be held at the local United church. For this occasion the preacher for the day will be Rev Russell McGillivray, B.A., B.D., of Central United church, Edmonton. He will also take the service at Greenshields on that date.

*** A few gallons of Bapco pure paint don't cost much and will add many dollars to the value of your home—Atlas Lumber Co. Ltd

Several more of the town residences are receiving their Spring coats of paint, and it all adds to the beauty of our surroundings.

The good roads were being well used for holiday travel over the week end, and several motor parties were made up for runs to the city and other places.

Mr and Mrs W. Huntingford motored over to Daysland to spend the holiday with friends there.

*** Joe Welch insures anything! Don't take a chance; let the insurance companies carry your risk. Phone 53

Mr and Mrs Bibby, Jr., joined the travellers for the week end and motored over to visit friends at Wetaskiwin.

The splendid rains at the week end were surely acceptable and although but little moisture fell right in town the district surrounding received a nice lot of freshening up.

The annual conference of the United church in Alberta is being held this week in Edmonton, and local delegates to this gathering are Rev N. W. Whitmore and Mr J. C. McLeod.

*** A good granary costs at least $125.00, without paint it will last about ten years. A gallon of barn paint costs $2.75 and this will prolong the life of the lumber indefinitely. This applies to garages, barns and houses. Nothing looks more dilapidated than unpainted buildings. A little paint makes them look attractive and a credit to the owner's industry. Come in and we will figure your paint needs. We sell Bapco pure paint—the best! at the Atlas yard. Joe Welch, mgr.

At the annual court of revision held in the Council chamber on Monday last with Mayor Forster in the chair a number of appeals against the 1930 assessment of town property were dealt with. As in each case the assessments were shown to be equitable with other property affected the appeals were all dismissed.

During his stay in town as adjudicator at the musical festival Mr W. H. Edwards was the guest of Mr and Mrs G. C. Siddall

We are glad to state that Mr P. Beupre is now recovering nicely from his appendicitis operation at the hospital.

*** The Wawanesa fire insurance company are distributing to their policy holders an improved fire extinguisher. These can be obtained from the agent, Joe Welch Phone 57

We regret to know that Miss Jean Gray suffered a severely sprained ankle while playing basketball at the school last week. She has since been confined to her home.

We are glad to learn that Mr Frank Seabrook, who is a patient at the hospital is now much better in health. Mr John Guthrie, of Edgerton is also much improved now after his operation.

We understand that Mayor Forster will be moving his family into their new home which has just been completed on Fifth avenue east.

*** Try Insulux, the dry plaster which you simply pour over your ceiling or down in your walls. It saves 25% per cent on your fuel bill and anyone can apply it. Get it at the Atlas yard. Joe Welch

Attending to the interests of the Calgary Brewing Co in town, Messrs McMillan and Doherty were here for a day or so last week.

Mr L. Keenleyside and his wife were in town last week for several days on matters connected with the Lloyd's Petroleum Co, who have large holdings in this field.

Mr Wm. Glover of Paschenchade, had the misfortune to suffer a very badly cut leg last week when he was caught between a tractor he was operating and a plow. He was brought in to the hospital.

*** Paint up! Nothing will add more real value to your property than a coat or two of paint of the proper color. We sell Bapco pure paint and will be pleased to help you select harmonious colors. Atlas Lumber Co Joe Welch

Mr Newton Harvey, one of the pioneer well drillers in the Wainwright field was in town from the city last week for several days.

Mr J. L. Daugherty is now driving a new Oldsmobile from the Forster & Brunker garage.

The Misses E. Kemp and Y. Bimson journeyed to Canmore for the holiday via the auto route, while Miss A. Wiley chose the same means to visit friends at Oktye, Alta.

*** A carload of nice big corner and corner posts; green cut tamarack; at the Atlas yard. Get yours now!

Although on a couple of nights last week the thermometer dropped to a dangerous level, we can learn of no damage being suffered by the grain from frost. A lot of garden truck was nipped, though!

SANDWICH SUGGESTION
Now that sandwich time is here again with us, these little sandwich suggestions should prove very valuable. Vary your sandwiches by serving some prepared after reading this item, and see how the novelties appeal.

A delicious orange cheese filling may be made by combining one part orange juice with two parts cream cheese and beating to consistency of thick cream.

Here is a shrimp butter filling. Combine one cup butter and one cup cooked shrimps pounded soft. Season with salt and cayenne to taste and moisten with one-fourth cup lemon juice.

Orange juice combines especially well with dried fruits, such as chopped raisins, figs, dates, and chopped nuts to make flavorful fillings.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

Gone are the days when business flowed through every street in the town, poured into every shop of its own accord and filled the till of the merchant with no more effort on his part than to wrap up the goods and hand out the change. There is still business to be done, probably more of it outside the town than ever before, but it has to be gone after. And the cheapest and most "fateful" way of going after it is by newspaper advertising.

ADVERTISING PAYS AGAIN!

All shipment records of Frigidaire Corporation were broken on April 30 when 214 carloads of electric refrigerators left the plants. The best previous day's record was for May 21, 1929, when 121 carloads were shipped.

The new all-time record was established in less than two weeks after the company began a million dollar newspaper advertising campaign to supplement its spring field activity, according to E. G. Biechler, president and general manager. The increased advertising expenditure was predicated upon a record breaking first quarter, a 100 per cent increase in showroom visitors, and a newspaper survey which showed an overwhelming preference on the part of the public for Frigidaire, it was stated.
